SCHOOL REPORT.

Gentlemen: It gives me great pleasure at this time to report to you that the schools have been generally satisfactory. In a majority of cases they have been more profitable than last year.

For this improvement I have to thank the teachers for their efforts to improve and elevate the same.

The qualifications of a successful teacher are many and varied. Something more than a good education, executive ability, orderly, systematic habits, and power to impart knowledge, is necessary.

But few of the patrons of our schools understand how much time, money, strength and patience is necessary in the daily preparation of a teacher's work.

As the family, so will be the school, so far as any influence is exerted. As believe the father and mother, so acts the boy or girl when they come with the impress of home upon them into the school-room.

Teach your children obedience at school as well as at home. Let them understand that for a just reproof of chastisement at school they shall have no false sympathy. Speak of the school as a pleasant thing. Allow no trivial object to keep your children from the school-room; sympathize with them in their trials and efforts for improvement.

In the future, I ask for the teachers, a more careful consideration from the patrons of the school, less unjust criticism and more frequent consultation with them in regard to the management and education of their children.

The knowledge that each parent possesses of the school should be obtained from personal observation and not from neighborhood gossip. No woman, however great her duties, should allow her child to be under the care and guidance of any teacher eight months of the year without knowing the character, the influence and the ability of the teacher. A matter of special gratification has been the liberal appropriation which was made last year for repairs upon the various school houses. With few exceptions they are in good conditions, and a small appropriation each year will suffice to keep up the high standard which this century of science demands.

In my last report, I strongly urged the need of teachers to make their Registers as accurate as possible. There are many omissions this year in some of them which will involve much additional work for the Committee. In conclusion, I wish to say that for four years I have been connected with the school, and at the close of this year I sever my connection with them.

Though I may not always have done what was the best for the schools, nor obtained as good results as many others might have done, yet I shall go out with the feeling that I did the best I knew how.

To the members of the School Board, past and present, I tender my thanks for their kindness, their approval, their helpful suggestions, their just reproofs, always ready to give assistance when asked.

With the hope for the constant improvement of the schools, and success of all connected with them, I will close this, my last report to the Town School District of Littleton.

Respectfully submitted.

FRANK C. ALBEE.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON TOWN HISTORY.

This committee was originally appointed and organized to collect material for a History of the Town. It has been required to take charge of the publication of the exercises of the Centennial of 1884, and it might well be added that it furnished a vast amount of historical material used by the speakers and writers whose efforts are printed in that volume. Among the important material that has been gathered by the committee, the following matter is here mentioned as it will indicate the wide range of effort put forth and the character of the results accomplished:

The manuscript of Dr. Adams Moore, who had devoted a great deal of time and labor to the preparation of material for a Town History, was placed in the custody of the committee by his widow. This material constitutes an invaluable contribution to the early history of the Town containing as it does, statements of aged people concerning its early settlement, plans of the location and survey of the towns in the Ammonoosuc Valley and a review of the controversies among the early land owners.

Mr. Ray T. Gile, civil engineer, has had special charge of the preparation of a historical and geographical map of the town. He has had the benefit of access to the plans and surveys made and collected by Mr. P. C. Wilkins in an experience of more than fifty years as a surveyor in this vicinity. Plans of roads by state, county and town authority have also been consulted. Mr. Gile has also done a great deal of work on the ground in locating the precise boundaries of our streets, highways, lot lines, streams, and altitudes of mountains and in connecting the survey of the town with that carried on by the government,—thus locating the the places and points with absolute accuracy with reference to standards established by government engineers.

Blanks have been prepared and extensively used to collect biographical facts in regard to members of learned professions, who have resided in this town and who are natives of it. Personal statements of this kind have been taken from the individuals themselves or from relatives or competent persons and acquaintances, as to every clergyman who has labored in town, every lawyer who has practiced in it and every physician who has prosecuted his profession here and the same has been done in reference to natives of Littleton who have engaged in their profession elsewhere.

The same effort has been made to reach all who have been interested in our newspapers, banks, schools, merchandising, mechanics, railroads, manufactures and general business. The developement of the history of the town in respect to art, music, drama and the maintenance of libraries, has been observed and outlined.

The part which the town had in the wars of the Republic is of special interest and has had special attention. By appointment of the Selectmen, under the direction of the law of the state, Mr. C. H. Greene was designated to ascertain who served for the town in the war for the Union and their full record. He has included four clauses in his work:

1. All natives of Littleton wherever serving.
2. All who were credited to the quota of Littleton.
3. All actual residents of Littleton serving on quotas of other towns or states.
4. All who since the war have become permanent residents in town.

Mr. Greene has made thorough work and we doubt if any town has a record of the kind so complete and exhaustive as ours is at this time.

The genelaogical work has secured considerable attention. It is proposed to have a record of each group that can be regarded by permanent residence as actually and fairly a Littleton family. This is now in the special charge of Mr. W. A. Haskins who has a special taste and aptitude for it. His health is such that we regard it fortunate that we are able to aid him to employment in which his services can be made advantageous to himself and valuable to the town.

In the department of Natural History, a chapter on the Geology of the town is in preparation by Prof. Chas. H. Hitchcock of Dartmouth College, late State Geologist, the most competent man for the work that can be named, if we have reference to personal qualifications and actual familiarity with the geological formations and mineral and fossil deposits on our territory.

Weather observations have been taken by Mr. Chas. Nurse for about forty years and will furnish material for chapters on local meteorology. Few towns have such a record ready made for use for this purpose.

In the chapters prepared by Rev. M. V. B. Knox, Ph.D., and his assistants we have a very creditable treatise on animal and vegetable life as it has been observed in this town. Some features—those for instance on ferns and mosses—are particularly important and interesting from a scientific standpoint.

Special articles have been supplied or are in preparation on social topics. Mr. Parker Pillsbury, the noted anti-slavery agitator has written an elaborate history of the origin and growth of that movement in Littleton for this work.

A similar monograph is in preparation on the growth of the temperance movement.

A historical sketch of Free Masonry and kindred organizations in our midst has been written.

As there are few subjects that come so near to the inner life of the people as their religion, special effort has been made to have the developement of religious ideas and organizations correctly traced and recorded.

A very exhaustive history of Methodism in Littleton has been written by Mr. Knox.

The following named gentlemen have been invited to give other denominations similar investigation and to give the committee the benefit of their work:

Dea. Chas. L. Clay of the First Congregational church.

Rev. G. C. Waterman of the Freewill Baptist church.

Rev. L. D. Cochrane of the Unitarian church.

Wm. M. Taylor, Esq., of the Advent.

John M. Mitchell, Esq., of the Catholic church.

The Episcopalian chapter has been written and presented to the committee.

Many interesting illustrations for the work have been procured, among them is a photograph of the first locomotive that run into town, and the portraits of many citizens are accessible for the illustration of the work.

The completion of an index to the town records is a necessity for the proper compilation of the Town History. The Selectmen have authorized this work: a suitable book has been procured for it, and it would be well to make the small outlay necessary for perfecting that undertaking.

A few instruments, to be the property of the town, might with propriety be added to the equipment of the weather observer.

Considerable delay has been caused by the failure of our citizens to respond to the invitation of the committee to furnish statements of family history for the genealogy of the work, and we desire to urge upon them the importance of making this contribution at once.

The preparation of a town history is a work full of vexations and delays. To be of any value it must be correct, every statement of fact should be verified. This necessarily requires time and patience. In the near future we hope to present to the town a history which will justify the expenditures of time and money which its preparation has involved.

Therefore, the books and money donated amount to $1924 50

A small part of these contributions were in books, and in all such cases, the books have been appraised at their fair value.

In addition to the above and of greater value than all, is the contribution of Miss Stella Farr, who gives her services as Librarian for one year. Miss Farr's knowledge of books and the zeal with which she labors, are doing much to make the Library a success.

The labor of cataloguing and arranging the books for the opening was great and her time was exclusively devoted to such work for many weeks. We feel especially under obligations to Miss Farr for her invaluable service.

We are likewise under obligations to the following young ladies who have shown their interest by rendering valuable aid to the Librarian in her work, viz.: Miss Mary French, Miss Isabel Ranlet, Miss Myra Eaton, Miss Helen Farr, Mrs. C. E. Wright, Miss Fannie Merrill, Miss Minnie Williams, Miss Addie Jones. Miss Blanche Bowman, Miss Florence Aldrich and Mrs. A. W. Bingham.

Mr. Cyprian C. Twombly gives his services as janitor for one year and is discharging his duties promptly and carefully.

Such contributions reduce the running expenses and the trustees will thereby be enabled to expend the money saved for books.

Wm. F. Andrus, Eli B. Wallace and Geo. C. Furber contribute each $10.00 in printing, and Daniel F. Chase, $5.00.

The Littleton Water and Electric Light Company, through its officers, Col. Corning and Mr. Fitch, furnish light for one year free from charge. This is a substantial contribution.

Geo. Farr contributes two cords of wood and George W. Richardson, four cords.

To Henry M. Fisher the town is under obligations for the two new signs now upon the Library building, and Mr. E. D. Dunn contributes the wood-work for the signs, and other labor amounting to $10.00.

Smith & Lynch give the paint for the body of the building and one coat of roofing, and J. D. F. Hilliker and Henry Jackson contribute labor.

P. R. Goold has presented the Library with a complete file of the "Littleton Journal," and we are under obligations to Mr. Thos. Carleton for an ancient book-case and a number of volumes from the collection known as the "Littleton Anti-Slavery Library." This we consider a contribution of more than usual interest.

Mrs. F. A. Robinson contributes a set of Rees Encyclopedia of 50 volumes. Charles R. Coburn gives leather furnishings for book-cases.

COMMITTEE ON BOOKS.

To the Trustees of the Littleton Public Library:

The undersigned, committee on books, beg leave to submit the following report:

The nucleus of the present library is the collection of books formerly owned by the Littleton Library Association which was transferred to the trustees in September last. Of these books about twelve hundred were in good condition, have been catalogued and are on the shelves of the Library, one hundred and fifty volumes require rebinding and an equal number were regarded as valueless.

This collection was made up largely of works of fiction and contained excellent editions of Scott, Dickens, Cooper and Ainsworth; it also contained the works of Prescott, Motley and a few other historical writers, but by far the larger part comprised that class of fiction which was current from 1860 to 1875.

In December last your committee, with the advice of the Board, purchased of George H. Colby of Lancaster, seven hundred volumes of fiction, mainly of standard authors. About this time we visited Boston and selected about seven hundred and fifty volumes. This purchase covered nearly every department of literary effort and was made with the view of supplying the deficiencies and strengthening the weak points in the Library we then possessed. Great care was exercised in buying these books owing to the limited condition of our finances and only the works of standard authors were chosen. We were especially careful to cover, as fully as we could, the field of American and English history and the juvenile department.

When the Library was thrown open to the public on the 25th of January it contained 2700 catalogued books and 248 others will soon be added, giving us a Library of nearly 3000 volumes. We also have between 300 and 350 volumes of public documents, many of them of great value.

The patronage accorded the Library has exceeded the most sanguine expectations of its friends. During the first month nearly 1600 volumes were circulated, of these 1234, or more than three-fourths of the entire number, were juveniles and works of fiction, 129 books of travel, 75 history and 27 biography. These figures show the value of the institution as an educational force.

During the coming year the Library ought to be strengthened by the addition of a considerable number of works on science, political economy, literature and also in the department of current fiction in the last named of which it is, at present, extremely weak.

JAMES R. JACKSON, }
ANNA L. BRACKETT, } Committee.
A. S. BATCHELLOR, }

The only questions which have troubled us are the questions of location, and whether the Library should be united with the reading room of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Upon the question of location, considerable feeling was manifested in the village. The trustees believed that the Library should be centrally located; that it should be a distinctive institution and therefore in a building by itself; that the building should be well lighted and free from dampness; that the books should be placed where the fire risk would be a slight as possible and where insurance could be obtained at a moderate rate.

Moved by such considerations, the present location was made at an annual rental of $125. And this rental is materially reduced by a voluntary subscription to that end obtained by Mr. W. H. Bellows and Mr. J. W. Remick.

Upon the question as to whether the library and reading room of the Young Men's Christian Association should be consolidated or united under one management, there was some difference of opinion. Quite a number of estimable village people thought it wise to unite the two. But we were of the opinion that neither the statute or the vote of the town authorized us to expend any part of the money voted by the town to the support of a village reading room.

The fundamental and leading idea set forth in the report of the old committee and the vote of the town was a non-partisan, non-sectarian town institution, placed upon a basis as lasting as the town system itself. The burden of supporting such a library is borne by all the tax payers of the town alike and the benefits and conveniences flowing from it, should fall alike upon all.

The trustees did not question the great good resulting from a reading room like the one proposed. They felt, however, that it might be open to the objection that it was not non-sectarian and that it would not accommodate all alike, in this, that the people living away from the village could not conveniently share its blessings. We believed that the advantages of the library and its appendages should be co-extensive with the burden of supporting it. Books and magazines which circulate through all parts of the town accomplish this end, while papers and magazines not circulating can only accommodate those who can frequent the place where they are kept. Moreover, a reading room should be open nightly, while the public can be accommodated by a circulating library open two afternoons and one evening each week. The expenses to the town would therefore have been largely increased by uniting the two.

All things considered, we thought it advisable to found the library squarely upon the vote of the town so that it should be considered by all as a town institution with all its property, archives, and privileges belonging to the town.

The library now contains some three thousand volumes and the weekly circulation approximates seven hundred.

The trustees fondly indulge the hope that the desire to read may grow until every volume shall freely circulate.

They also trust that the plan adopted will commend itself to the generous public, which has rendered substantial pecuniary aid, and to the citizens of Littleton who, by their votes, have declared themselves in favor of sustaining a free public circulating library.

We acknowledge the receipt of a large number of valuable publications of the national and state governments. These contributions were made through the interest of our Senators, Representatives and other officials in the success of this institution.

We desire in this connection to express our obligations to them for their good offices in this behalf.

CATALOGUE.

The best library management in recent years includes what is known as the card catalogue. In many respects it is superior to any other method. It is generally supplemented by catalogues or lists of books in pamphlet form for small libraries or in bound volumes for larger institutions. Here the patrons of the library are dispersed over a large territory and the library is open only for a limited time. A very large number of takers must consult the catalogue simultaneously or submit to considerable delay in waiting their turn at the card catalogue. Outside of library hours it is of no service to book-takers, for it is not accessible to the public. The inconvenience of making the card catalogue our only resource for informing the people as to the contents of the library has become more and more manifest as our patronage increases. With some 3000 books now on the shelves for the use of upwards of 4000 people, a wise economy demands that every facility be provided to publish the contents of the library and to make the books accessible. A printed catalogue in pamphlet form does not require a large outlay of the public money. It can be prepared at comparatively small expense. The demand for it among those who use the library is emphatic, and many others do not attempt to draw books because there is no catalogue but the cards. The most acceptable plan, as shown by the experience of other similar institutions, is to provide the library with printed catalogues at the public expense, copies to be issued to such as have need of them at cost. The price of our catalogues would be from twenty-five to fifty centy each, according to the size of the edition provided.

We recommend the adoption of the following:

Resolved, That the Trustees of the Public Library be directed to procure the compilation and publication in pamphlet form of a suitable catalogue of the public library and that a sufficient sum not exceeding dollars be, and hereby is, specially raised and appropriated for that purpose; and that the catalogues so published be sold by the trustees at such price as the Trustees may deem advisable.

EDGAR ALDRICH,

SCHOOL REPORT.

Citizens of Littleton: In again submitting our annual contribution to that class of literature so prevalent in March, which once read is soon forgotten, we desire to reiterate the favorable opinion which we have heretofore expressed regarding the condition of our public schools. The citizens of the Town District we believe are each succeeding year taking a deeper interest in educational matters, and if faults exist in our school system, they are attributable to necessity rather than want of interest.

We are pleased to report that the past year has been one of more than average prosperity. So far as I have been able to discover the discipline and progress in all the different grades have been satisfactory. Of course there is room for improvement and always will be. Indeed we congratulate the teachers of the town upon the generally good results attending their efforts.

Respectfully submitted

FRANK C. ALBEE.

The above balance includes the $100.00 appropriated for a catalogue. The same was not expended because it was understood that substantial additions to the book list of the library would be made during the year, by a former citizen of the town, and it was thought best to defer publication until such additions could be included.

It may safely be said that the balance will be needed for payment of debts outstanding and due April 1. Such bills will include binding, rent, wood, librarian, etc.

M. A. PARKER, Treasurer.

FINANCE.

To the Trustees:

The undersigned, Committee on Finance, report that they have examined the accounts of the Treasurer, and find that she has received, (including $85.01, balance on hand at date of last report), the sum of $897.11, for purposes of the Public Library, and that she has correctly cast her account, and has proper vouchers showing the amount reported by her as paid out, and an actual cash balance remaining in her hands on Feb. 25, 1891, of $396.60.

OSCAR C. HATCH,
ELIZA I. BINGHAM,
FRANK C. ALBEE, } Committee.

COMMITTEE ON ROOMS.

To the Trustees:

The Committee on Rooms and Furnishings have only to report that they have provided the library building with double windows and a storm door, engaging to pay one-half the expense, the other half being paid by the lessor, R. D. Rounsevel. Considerations of health and comfort made these improvements imperative.

COMMITTEE ON PURCHASE OF BOOKS.

To the Board of Trustees:

The Committee on Purchase of Books would report that they have given a good deal of care to the subject, and have conscientiously endeavored to use the public money in proper and profitable ways. They have purchased 170 volumes during the year, and have also secured some of the donations mentioned by the Librarian. One of their chief duties has been to prepare, with the Librarian's invaluable help, a large list of suggestions to be submitted to the Hon. C. A. Sinclair with reference to his liberal gift now in progress.

It may be added that the item of wear and tear has been larger than was expected. The Committee have sent to the binder nearly 100 volumes, and more than that number ought to follow within a short time. The sum originally estimated as necessary for rebinding is clearly inadequate, and some additional provision will have to be made for this purpose.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES R. JACKSON,
ANNA L. BRACKETT,
LUCIUS WATERMAN, } Committee.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

To the Board of Trustees:

The Librarian reports that during the year ending February 1, 1890, cards have been issued to 964 persons, and 15,189 books have been loaned, an average of 300 per week. Of these, 83 per cent were fiction, 6 per cent were books of travel, 4 per cent were historical works, and the remainder about equally divided between biography, literature, science and miscellaneous subjects.

The library now contains 3,405 volumes, 285 having been added in the past year. Of these, 170 were obtained by purchase, and 115, including public documents, were donated.

The reference books are being considerably used, although the library labors under a disadvantage in having no reference room where the reader may be undisturbed.

In the department of reading for young people, there is great need of more books. The supply is far from being equal to the demand, so that the children are often forced to take the poorer books from inability to get those of a better class, which in many cases they desire.

STELLA B. FARR, Librarian.

The town is under obligations to William J. Bellows, Esq., for the valuable gift to the library of a set of Appleton's Encyclopedia of American Biography.

It is with great satisfaction that we announce the fact that Hon. Charles A. Sinclair has recently made a gift of $600 to the library, to be expended by the trustees in the purchase of books. This generous donation will be fully appreciated by all citizens of the town. It is the wish of the donator that this sum be invested in works of permanent value and the purchase is being made under his direction.

The circulation of the books far exceeds the expectation of the most sanguine promoters of the library. More than 900 cards have been issued, and of these, a very encouraging proportion to young people. Children are the most constant readers.

In view of the growing demand among young people for more books and in view of the desire of all to make this town institution a permanent success, we feel justified in recommending a special appropriation of $250 for the current year, the same to be expended in purchasing books for this class of readers.
